Except under limited circumstances, children's free and reduced price meal or free milk eligibility may not be disclosed, without parent/guardian consent, except to persons directly connected to certain education programs, health programs, means-tested nutrition programs, the Comptroller General of the United States and some law enforcement officials. However, officials may disclose children's free and reduced price meal or free milk eligibility information to persons directly connected with the state Medicaid and the state Children's Health Insurance Program when parents/guardians do not decline to have their information disclosed.
